There is but one truly serious philosophical problem, and that is suicide. Judging whether life is or is not worth living amounts to answering the fundamental question of philosophy. All the rest – whether the world has three dimensions, whether the mind has nine categories – comes afterwards. These are games; one must first answer.

Sólin settist bak við fjöllin og þokan læddist yfir dalinn. Þórður gekk hægt eftir veginum, með hugann fullan af spurningum sem áttu sér engin svör. Æskan var liðin fyrir löngu.

Regular roman · 10 pt

There is but one truly serious philosophical problem, and that is suicide. Judging whether life is or is not worth living amounts to answering the fundamental question of philosophy. All the rest – whether the world has three dimensions, whether the mind has nine categories – comes afterwards. These are games; one must first answer. And if it is true, as Nietzsche claims, that a philosopher must preach by example, you can appreciate the importance of that reply, for it will precede the definitive act. I have never seen anyone die for the ontological argument. Galileo, who held a scientific truth of great importance, abjured it the moment it endangered his life. That truth was not worth the stake.
